this moral reasoning is line with a moral system where humans are the only being with moral value; animals are valued only in so far as they affect our behaviour towards other people