we're all doing it too late, but it's beginning to move now rather than enable progress, christianity often stood in the way of progress