"I still get plenty of people complaining that they're having trouble getting them from their eye doctors," said Ira Mitchell.

The ECG is usually normal but low-voltage complexes, reduced T-wave height, and longer atrioventricular (AV) conduction time may be present.

The vast majority of glaucoma medications are delivered as topical drops and we have already discussed how difficult it is to get active ingredients into the eye.